

Importance of Mobility and Nomadic People in Managing Biodiversity and Food Systems

Side Event in the Frame of the 28th Session of the FAO COAG28 on “Transforming Agri-food Systems: From strategy to Action”

Nahid Naghizadeh, CENESTA

Small traditional dam in Wintering territory of Qashqai Tribal Confederacy, Farsimadan Tribe, Sheybani sub-tribe

Policy and Social Issues

Key Messages

- Recognition of the pastoralist's "Territories of Life" and customary governance systems and, provision of the secure and sustainable right to land and its resources;
- Establish binding strong supporting policies and resources to enhance the resilience and mobility features of pastoralists on environmental tensions and take immediate urgent actions to save the endangered livelihoods of pastoralists through relevant international policy platforms (the three Rio Conventions, UNDRIP, IYRP, Dana Declaration, and other international instruments);
- Support and encourage pastoralists youth to take responsibility for preserving, sustainable use, and restoration of their territories and promoting their indigenous food systems

Nahid Naghizadeh, CENESTA, Iran

www.cenesta.org

